

3354:1-50-05 Technology resources policy.

- (A) The College shall operate and maintain audio-visual, computing, copying, faxing, Internet, knowledge management, networking, scanning, software, telecommunications, television, and similar resources to facilitate achievement of the missions and goals of the College. These College-operated and maintained resources, including all files, data and other information they may contain, are often referred to as “Technology Resources” in the policies and procedures of the College.
- (B) The College routinely grants faculty, students, staff, and certain guests access to Technology Resources. Technology Resources are generally the property of the College. Access to these resources is a privilege, but is not a right; access may be denied at any time without notice. Every Technology Resource user (each, a “User”) is subject to this policy and to other applicable policies and procedures of the College.
- (C) The President or the President’s designee is hereby directed to take all steps necessary and appropriate for the effective implementation of this policy.
