Tri-C's Creative Arts programs develop gifted artists and performers

Encouraged and inspired by outstanding faculty and staff, the more than 6,000 students enrolled each year in Tri-C's Creative Arts programs find their passions and creative voices in unique settings that cultivate vision, imagination and inspiration. Students earn associate degrees or certificates in the performing arts (music, dance and theater), recording arts and technology, journalism and visual arts (studio art, filmmaking and visual communication and design).

The Creative Arts programs' presentations also elevate and enrich the well-being of all residents of Northeast Ohio by presenting outstanding cultural events, including the Tri-C Presents performing arts series and the annual Tri-C JazzFest Cleveland presented by KeyBank. With the objective of inspiring and developing future generations of musicians, actors, filmmakers, dancers, painters, sculptors, writers and poets, Tri-C's Creative Arts Academy provides summer dance and music programs for more than 1,000 pre-college students ages 5-18 annually.

Creative Arts students are prepared to thrive in rewarding careers and have the academic backgrounds to pursue additional college credentials at four-year institutions. Many students who complete their credit and non-credit programs go on to enroll in nationally acclaimed institutions, or seek employment to help build our region's economic, social and cultural prosperity.
