

Breakwall

2023-2024 Call for Submissions

Breakwall is the creative and literary arts publication of Cuyahoga Community College (Tri-C®). This publication gives students a creative outlet to showcase their talents in the arts, including poetry, fiction, drama, essays, feature articles, photography and graphic art. All current and former Tri-C students are encouraged to submit their work.

Each contributor may submit up to three pieces in any combination of genres:

Prose/Drama/Feature Articles: Pieces must not exceed 3,000 words. One-act plays are appropriate for the size constraints of the publication. Double-space all submissions.

Poetry: Poems must not exceed 1,000 words. Submit in the intended layout.

Artwork and Photography: Only black-and-white submissions will be accepted. Save as jpegs with a quality of 8 at 300 dpi. The image size must be 11 inches at its highest or widest dimension. Save each photograph as "LastName_FirstName_number_email address.jpg".

Scan the QR code for more details and to submit.

All pieces must be submitted in electronic format.

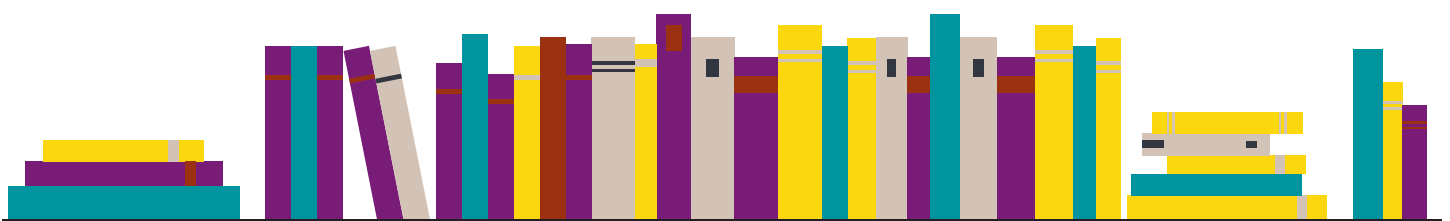

Save all text files as .rtf, .doc or .docx and all visual images as jpegs on a USB flash drive. The drive must contain all submissions and a 50-word biography of the contributor, written in the third person. Submissions will also be accepted at tri-c.edu/breakwall

Only complete submissions that follow all of the guidelines will be forwarded to the selection committee.

Selected works reflect the aesthetic judgment of the selection committee, and no work is guaranteed publication.

Double-check for grammatical and typographical errors prior to submitting your work.

The editors use a blind submissions process. Please do not include your name on the submitted entries — include it only on the submission form. Contributors will be notified via email if their work is selected. The anticipated publication date is late Spring 2024.
