In the fall of 1969, the original physical education building opened its doors to students and community members at the Metropolitan Campus. The building housed the gymnasium, pool, exercise space, office space, as well as recreational space. In the last several decades, the Tri-C student body and community has grown immensely – and so have the demands for the recreation center.

The new state-of-the-art facility will continue the tradition of working with our community partners to promote healthy living for our students, staff and neighbors.

This facility also provides the necessary space for students enrolled in the Sport and Exercise Studies program at the College. This unique program offers students the knowledge and skills to become fitness specialists. Students completing the program receive an Associate of Applied Science degree.
