

James Leasure, M.S.

Assistant Professor, Information Technology

James Leasure has served as an Assistant Professor of Information Technology at Cuyahoga Community College (Tri-C®) since 2010, where he teaches at the Western Campus.

Mr. Leasure earned a B.S. in Computer Science from Kent State University and an M.S. in Management Information Systems from the University of Illinois. He is an experienced software developer, project manager and information technology consultant for various organizations in web development.

Speech Topics:

- Basic computer security for amateurs
- Computer literacy
- Computer programming
- Agile project management
- Using Microsoft Office software
- Other information technology topics (upon request)