

Critical/Creative Thinking

78% of students met our CCT ELO

CCT measures how well students analyze, evaluate and integrate information to assess problems and ideas and transform them in innovative or imaginative ways.

Below are some ways you can use your CCT skills:

- Reviewing a business plan for a loan
- Transforming ingredients into a new dish for your restaurant
- Looking at leaf damage to determine which bugs are damaging your vegetable gardens

Civic Responsibility

68% of students met our CR ELO

CR measures how well students analyze the results of actions and inactions within the larger local and/or global communities.

Below are some ways you can use your CR skills:

- Leading a community voting initiative
- Reaching out to community members to see if your business can help fill a need
- Creating a business to share your American Sign Language skills at community events