

My Story of My Life

By Nataliia Tsuhanych

Everyone wants a better life and I will tell you about my interesting life and where I am going. First, I am from the beautiful country of Ukraine. I lived in Uzhgorod which is famous for its picturesque mountains and breathtaking nature. I lived there 21 years before I moved to the United States. I had a wonderful life in Ukraine, but like everyone I wanted to change. My next step was two years ago when I came to the United State. When I got here I had a lot of obstacles. The first obstacle was language. The second was a different manner of people. The third was other laws. At the moment I am trying to go only for a better life. In the near future I want to realize some of my dreams. For example, I want to learn English very well to become a doctor to help the needy. Finally, like every girl I want to start a family, so that I have a loving husband with whom I want to raise incredibly beautiful children. This is the main goal where I am going to. As you can see, my life has changed dramatically in a short period of time, and this is just the direction for the better.
