Author Visit with the Carol S. Franklin Social Science Speaker Series

In her book In the Pines: A Lynching, A Lie, A Reckoning, historian Grace Elizabeth Hale, an award-winning scholar on white supremacy, tackles her toughest research assignment yet: the unsolved murder of a Black man in rural Mississippi while her grandfather was the local sheriff. This cold case sheds new light on rural Black life and the legacy of systemic racism in America.

Wednesday, April 24th @ 12:30-1:45pm, Galleria

Yoga Workshop

Connect your body, breath, and mind through the use of physical postures, breathing exercises, and meditation to improve overall health.
