

Success Week Workshop Descriptions

Sept. 16-19, 2019

Campus Police and Security Services

A brief summary of the services that Campus Police provide, as well as their job duties and function on the campus. Get information about training and programs offered to students, staff and the community.

Connect 2 Campus and Constitution Day

Join us for this fun filled event with caricature artists and airbrush tattoos. Learn about academic programs, student clubs and organizations, campus resources and the U.S. Constitution.

Connect 4 Success Fair

Connect with campus resources and student organizations that can help you achieve your goals in and out of the classroom. Learn about all the opportunities available to you at Tri-C.

Discover Your Learning Style

An overview of the VARK model (Visual, Aural, Read/write, Kinesthetic). Explore each learning style, including SWOT (Study Without Tears) tips, and complete a questionnaire to determine your own learning style(s)!

Effective Communication

This session provides tips and techniques for overcoming barriers to effective communication. Understand your own behavior style and how it impacts your communication with others.

FAFSA Completion Workshop

Need help completing your FAFSA? Bring your Federal Student Aid (FSA) ID and copies of your 2017 taxes, W-2s and any untaxed income information with you to the workshop.

Funding Your Path:

Using Financial Aid to Ensure Success

Make the most of your financial aid resources and stay on the path toward graduation! Gain valuable information about financial aid planning, budgeting, responsible borrowing and more.

Goal-Setting and Academic Planning

Discuss the steps required to set goals – specifically SMART goals – and their relationship to academic planning. Worksheet and web links provided.

How to Flunk a Class

What's required to pass (or fail) a course? Get tips for becoming a good – or even great! – student. Recommended for those who struggle to pass classes and for instructors who teach challenging courses.

Managing Your Time:

Setting Yourself Up for Success

Time management is a process of planning and controlling how you spend your time doing specific activities. Good time management enables you to complete more in less time – with less stress and more success. Learn practical time management tips, calendar setup and the art of saying no.

No Mo' FOMO

There is so much to keep up with as a college student – and only 24 hours in a day. Learn how to effectively manage yourself, schedule your priorities and avoid missing out on things due to procrastination.

Peer2Peer:

Tips and Tools to Be a Successful Student

Join the Facebook Live Q&A to ask your peers about the tips and tools that have helped them be successful at Tri-C.

Self-Management in Relation to Time

Time is one of the most undervalued resources we have at our disposal. Learn how to truly value yourself in relation to this misunderstood resource.

SGA Meet and Greet/Swearing-In

Join us as we swear in and celebrate our 2019-2020 Student Government leaders.

The Hows and Whys of Getting to Know Your Professor

Getting to know your professors is one of the best moves you can make as a college student. Learn how to communicate your needs, build rapport and use office hours effectively.

The Voice

Discover opportunities to write for The Voice, Tri-C's student newspaper.

Transfer 1010: Getting Started With Your Planning

Learn about Tri-C Transfer Center services, transfer-friendly degrees, and exploring and connecting with four-year schools.

Tutoring = Success

Studies show that students earn higher grades, improve their study habits and increase their confidence when they use the Tutoring Center.

What Are the Humanities, and Why Should I Care?

College students everywhere must take classes in subjects like literature, history and philosophy, even if they have no interest in becoming teachers or scholars. But why? What's the point? Join Dean Matthew Jordan of the Mandel Humanities Center for an engaging discussion of why these courses are required, how they can enhance your experience as a Tri-C student and the ways in which they will be useful to you – no matter what your career path.
