

YOUTH TECHNOLOGY ACADEMY

CREATING CLEVELAND'S TECHNICAL WORKFORCE

EQUITY In ACCESS To TECHNOLOGY: Youth Technology Academy/Cleveland Metropolitan School District Partnership

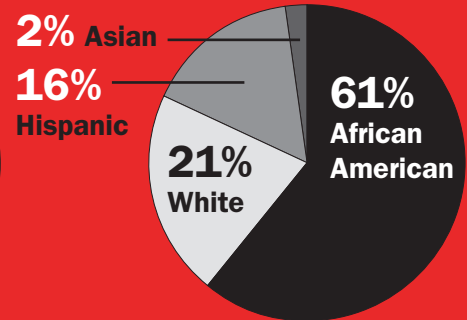

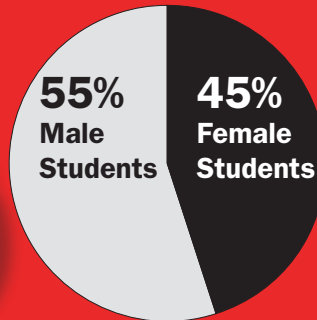

995

Cleveland Metropolitan School District high school students are taking college-credit technology classes.

Fields of study include:

- Electrical Engineering Technology (EET)
- Mechanical Engineering Technology (MET)
- Integrated Systems Engineering Technology (ISET)

Students earn dual credit.

College courses are embedded in the high school curriculum and offered after school.

CMSD Partner Schools

Offering cutting-edge STEM courses.

- Cleveland High School for Digital Arts
- Collinwood
- Design Lab Early College
- East Tech
- Glenville
- John Adams
- John Hay
- John Marshall School of Engineering
- John Marshall School of Information Technology
- Max S. Hayes High School
- MC2STEM
- New Tech East
- New Tech West

